

Green Finance

- The prime minister of India in cop 26 climate summit announced that India will attain net zero emissions by 2070 in order to meet these climate target countries like India will need 1 trillion dollar in additional financing over next ten years
- Green finance refer to finical arrangement that are specific to use for project that are environmentally sustainable or project that adopt the aspect of climate change.
- Green finance is providing its product and services to promote environmentally responsible investment and stimulate low carbon technology

Objective of Green Finance:

Green finance is to promote Global Green growth through the co-relation between Economy and Environment

- To promote green industry.
- To promote renewable energy development project.
- To promote pollution prevention project
- To achieve goal of low carbon economy

Green investment mainly include following areas.

- Waste processing and recycling
- Renewable energies
- Biodiversity protection
- Industrial pollution control
- Energy efficiency
- Water Sanitation

Green financing can be promote with help of following factor

- Making needful changes to nations regulatory framework
- Binding public sector financial decision with sustainable development objective
- Encouraging different to participate in this area
- Boosting investment in clean and green technology
- Encouraging private and public partnership towards green project

Advantages

- Social development and quality of life
- Sustainable use of resource
- Clean energy and climate change
- Sustainable environment

Disadvantages

- Risk is to high
- Lack of Knowledge about green investment
- Lack of leadership